
GUEST INFORMATION A-Z

WELCOME TO RANDOLINS

THANK YOU FOR STAYING WITH US

Dear guest,

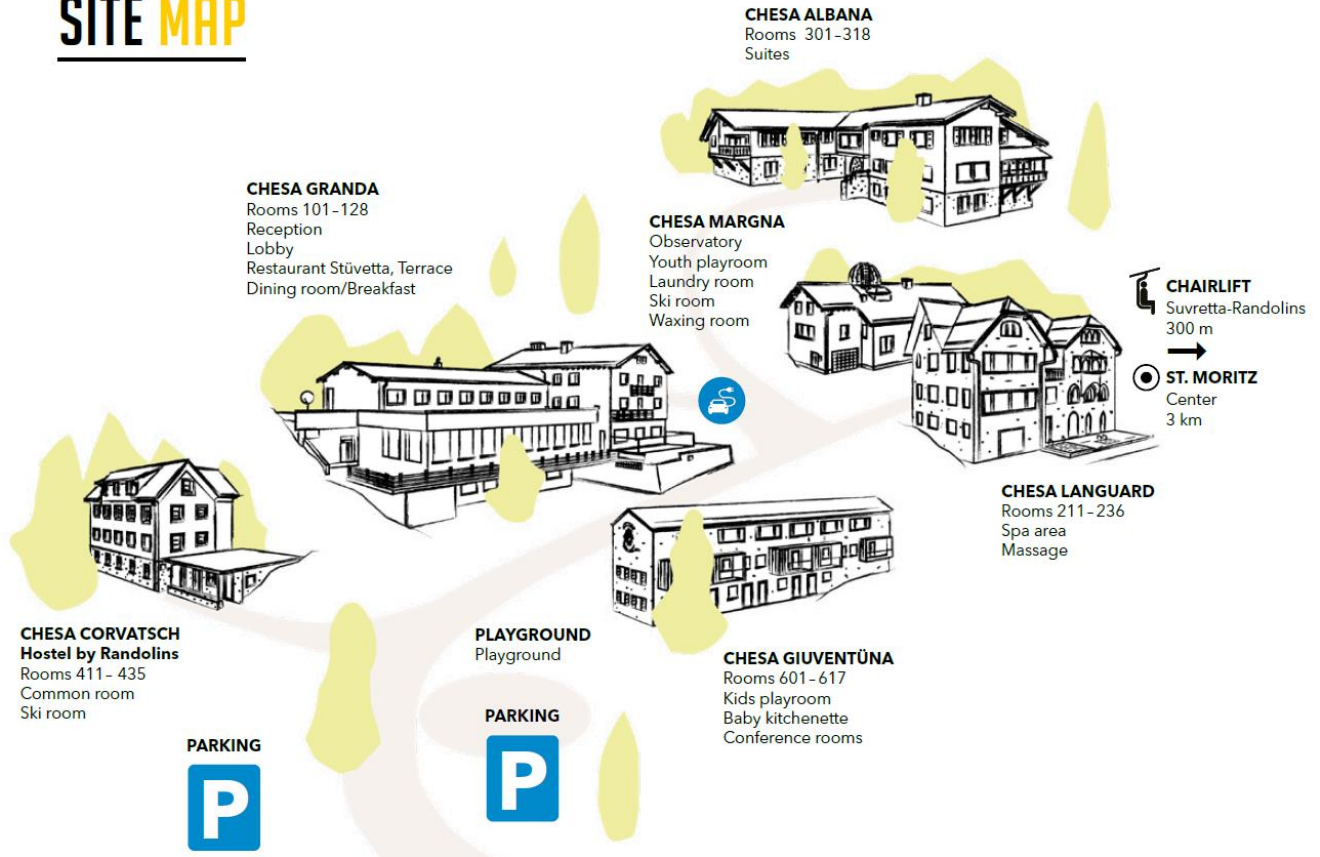

A warm welcome to St. Moritz. In the name of the hotel and the entire team, we wish you a pleasant and memorable stay. With you as a guest, Randolins becomes alive. To find your way in and around Randolins as simply and straightforward as possible, we compiled the following information for you.

Enjoy your holiday in the beautiful Engadine!

Sincerely yours,

Family Amsler-Scheuermann
and the Randolins Team

SITE MAP

CHESA GRANDA

Chesa Granda is the heart of Randolins. Here you will find the reception, the sun-flooded dining room, and the restaurant Stüvetta with its sun terrace and a fabulous view. Chesa Granda has an elevator. Having undergone an extensive renovation of 8 rooms in 2022, during spring break 2023, also the remaining guest rooms received a facelift and significant upgrade.

CHESA LANGUARD

The Chesa Languard is a beautiful old stone house. The house was built in 1924 and was renovated during summer 2018. The 16 modern rooms on three floors are also accessible with an elevator. On the ground floor of Chesa Languard you can enjoy our unique wellness oasis.

CHESA ALBANA

This house is the newest addition to the Randolins grounds and is located above all the other guest houses. The front door of a typical Engadin chalet reminds of the children's classic tale "Schellenursli". All the rooms were renovated in 2012. In Chesa Albana there are also two suites with a magnificent view of the Upper Engadine's mountains and lakes.

CHESA GIUVENTÜNA

The house was completely renovated in winter 2015/16. Here, brand new and attractive 3-star family studios were created. Chesa Giuventüna has also a baby kitchenette, a play room and a garden with playground and BBQ. Our bright conference rooms are located on the top floor of the building.

CHESA CORVATSCH

All by itself and surrounded by trees - this is what gives Chesa Corvatsch the romantic touch. The rooms are functional and simple, with a special, rustic charm. All the rooms are equipped with a sink, the shared bathrooms are located on each floor.

CHESA MARGNA

Chesa Margna is the home of our appreciated employees.

It is with pride that we present our latest offer since the summer season 2020:

We redesigned our historic observatory dating from 1924 and turned it into a very special hotel room.

The dome can be opened during good weather and offers a fascinating view of the Engadine mountains, lakes and the starry sky at night. Since autumn 2021, you will also find the central ski room and bike room, the guest laundry room and a playroom for older children.

THE HISTORY OF RANDOLINS

Today, Randolins is a mountain hotel located at 1'970 meters, which is completely dedicated to the unique character of the high Engadine mountain range, and which has maintained its originality in favor of invigorating mountain experiences. The fact that nature, calm, and inspiration stand at the forefront of a diverse guest structure here goes back to our 100-year history.

The legendary founding period begins in 1924, when the Alsatian pharmacist René Adolphe Schwaller Lubricz selected the property of around 20'000 square meters high above St. Moritz for his scientific center, "Suhalia". He founded the current Chesa Margna with its observatory and the Chesa Languard, and as a variously interested theosophist, who even trained as a painter with Henri Matisse in Paris, he also attracted scientists and artists to the slopes of the Suvretta from all over Europe. Physicians, chemists, physicians, astronomers, and artists of various art forms met here for interdisciplinary research. Legends report of princesses and a golden chapel in the Chesa Languard. To be certain, the institute "Suhalia" applied for a patent for an "unsinkable ship", and Arab studs were even bred in the current ski room of the Chesa Margna. Financially, the project was not favored by fortune, and after only four years, Schwaller had to transfer the building to the bank.

Following this, the French-speaking private school "Institut Montalia" took over the property under the direction of Roger Matthey. Young boys lived here at the boarding school in the healthy mountain air of the Engadine, until they were ready for their academic leaving tests. After several years, the interest payments became too high, and the institute was relocated to Dimlej on Lake St. Moritz.

FROM CHRISTIAN VACATION CENTER TO OPEN 3-STAR HOTEL

During the economically difficult period after the war, the "Protestant Homestay Association" acquired the property in 1954, including five buildings in need of renovation. With plenty of courage and dedication and hundreds of hours of compulsory labor on behalf of youths and adult groups, the houses were restored. To ensure that youths, sports, and school groups would also be able to enjoy vacation in the Engadine, a youth center was also opened. With legendary fundraising activities, the sales of "Nideletäfel" and baked goods, and countless events, the necessary money was eventually raised both near and far. This is also the time when the Rhaeto-Romanic name "Randolins" was added, which essentially means "swallow's nest" and is reminiscent of the small birds that return to their second home in the Engadine after their long journey each year. Just like our guests.

Over the course of the decades, the center has developed into a modern 3-star hotel. In 1960, House Albana was built, Chesa Granda in 1973, and the educational center was added in 1995. In the summer of 2005, the a-la-carte restaurant "Stüvetta" received an attractive sun terrace. Since December 2006, the hotel has also possessed a beautiful spa oasis, including a unique panorama view.

PRESERVED AS A CENTER OF PEACE AND REFLECTION

In 2012, the "Randolins Centre Foundation, St. Moritz" was finally founded to preserve the Randolins as a center of peace and reflection.

As a mountain hotel, we are now even more focused on our unique environment, and we continue a tradition of making the most beautiful natural experiences and their exchange available at one of the most exclusive locations for attractive prices.
